President May Call Daugherty On The Carpet

Harding To See Attorney General Today For The First Time Since Boom

G.O.P. CALL WAS PREMATURE

Renomination Announcement Was Not Opportune Or Considered Good Form

St. Augustine, Fla. — President Harding, it has become known, did not consider necessary the recent statement by Attorney General Daugherty, predicting that the chief executive would be a candidate for re-nomination or that the statement was opportune or in good form.

It is presumed that the president will discuss the subject with the attorney general, who arrived here early Wednesday from Miami where he has been recuperating from a recent illness. The president and Mr. Daugherty have not met since the latter issued his statement and there naturally was the keenest curiosity whether there will be further developments before the president returns to Washington.

The attorney general's rooms are in the Hotel Ponce de Leon, where the presidential party is stopping. He spent the morning resting from the all night train ride while it was said he stood it very well. The president went out to the St. Augustine links about 9 o'clock for a round of golf and the possibility of a conference between them was removed until in the afternoon.

St. Augustine, Fla. — The announcement was made on behalf of Attorney General Daugherty on his arrival here Wednesday to join President Harding's vacation party that he would have no statement of any kind to make in connection with the injection of the name of his son, Major Draper M. Daugherty, into the Keenan murder mystery.

St. Augustine, Florida. — When Attorney General Daugherty rejoined the presidential party here Wednesday, President Harding will have his first opportunity to discuss the why and the wherefore of the statement issued at Miami ten days ago by Mr. Daugherty which was generally construed as a formal announcement of the Harding candidacy for 1924.

The president did not know to make the statement he did. Mr. Daugherty was careful not to say that he spoke on behalf of Mr. Harding though many newspapermen naturally presumed that because the president and Mr. Daugherty were both in Miami a matter of such importance must have been thoroughly canvassed with the chief executive before being disclosed to the press.

TRAVELER APART
When the attorney general sent for the newspapermen and made his prediction that Mr. Harding would be re-nominated and elected, the significance of a formal announcement was immediately attached to his utterance. The president did not see the newspapers until the next morning when he had already left for Miami and there has been no chance for him to converse with the attorney general as the latter has been sejourning at Miami on the advice of his physician while the president has been slowly cruising along the Florida coast.

All the discussion, meanwhile, as to whether a formal announcement should have been made at this time turns upon whether it is a wise thing for Mr. Harding with a session of congress ahead of him and with a transcontinental speaking tour scheduled for this summer, to appear in the role of an active man seeking the nomination. Mr. Harding wants it under stood he is not seeking re-nomination and will not take a single step to solicit the favor of the party that has honored him in the past.

SQUELCHES MUCH TALK
Mr. Daugherty's purpose was not to start the 1924 campaign this early but to squelch much of the talk that Mr. Harding was tired of the job and would voluntarily withdraw and all that sort of thing.

Daugherty's statement remains a fact. For all practical purposes it is later decided that it would be advantageous to disassociate the president from any apparent effort to seek re-nomination. The president is ready to accept renomination. His close friends have advised him of their purpose to go ahead and make sure of his re-nomination. He has told them that as Republican leaders they have that prerogative.

SPUD GROWERS REDUCE ACREAGE

Effect Of Last Season's Exceedingly Heavy Crop Is Noticed

Chicago—An effect of last season's exceedingly heavy potato crop, in excess of all ordinary requirements, was seen Wednesday in reports that eleven southern states had decreased their acreage for early potatoes 23 per cent. Late intermediate sections were reported to have made similar reductions.

Of last season's stock that went into storage 40,000 carloads deteriorated by March 1 until no longer fit for food or seed. Despite that, inroads on the available supply, reports indicated that probably 30,000 carloads were being held for market between the first of this month and June 30.

Between March 1 and June 30 last year 55,000 carloads of old potatoes were shipped to market and in 1921 only 40,000 cars were shipped during the same months. Despite the exceedingly large supply yet in storage and that an average of 700 daily have been shipped to market this month, last week's potato market advanced sharply, by jumps of 20 to 30 cents a 100.

Despite the exceedingly large supply yet in storage and that an average of 700 daily have been shipped to market this month, last week's potato market advanced sharply, by jumps of 20 to 30 cents a 100.

Minnesota showed a gain of 10 to 20 cents and Idaho cash trade, prices advanced 30 cents for russets and 60 cents for russets. The two varieties closed at 70 to 75 cents and $1.10 to $1.25 respectively.

Luggage to early potatoes by cold weather decreased acreage in certain states and the fact that heavy movement from Florida will not begin until about April 20, it was believed, would give northern stock a greater outlet. Some dealers held their supplies for further increases in the market.

Florida also reduced its cabbage acreage to 1,000 acres this year from 11,250 in 1922, and 3,370 in 1921. Shipments of cabbage from that state for the season have been 810 cars compared to 2,388 last season. The market was irregular last week. Apple markets were steady. The movement of both boxed and barrelled stock was lighter, although heavier than the same week in 1922.

U. S. TAKES CHARGE OF MICHIGAN "RED" TRIAL

By Associated Press
St. Joseph—The right of Attorney General Daugherty's office to direct the prosecution of William Z. Foster, charged with criminal syndicalism, was sustained Wednesday by Judge Charles White.

Frank P. Walsh, counsel for Foster, objected to O. L. Smith, assistant attorney general, taking over the re-cross examination of Charles E. Ruthenberg. Charles Gore, prosecutor of Ruthenberg, had conducted the cross examination, supplying Mr. Smith who was in charge of the earlier phases of the trial. Mr. Walsh maintained Mr. Gore was required to finish with the witness, but the court held the matter was within the discretion of the judge and he ruled Mr. Smith could take the prosecutor's place.

While none of the attorneys involved would comment on published reports of friction between the attorney general's representative and the prosecutor's office, it was understood Mr. Smith will have charge of the rest of the case.

THIRD DEGREE IS CHARGED BY WOOD-CO MAN

Arrest Of Magnuson Is Due Today As Bondsmen Withdraw Support

By Associated Press
Wisconsin Rapids—Faced with arrest immediately upon completion of his testimony at Wednesday morning's session of Wood-co court, John Magnuson alleged "Tule bomb" perpetrator, went to the stand prepared for one of the most strenuous cross examinations in Wood-co court history. His arrest will be made necessary because of the withdrawal Wednesday morning of his $10,000 bonds by his bondsmen S. L. Stevens, Nekoski businessman and F. G. Gilkey, Wisconsin Rapids, city clerk.

After relating briefly his life story in which he firmly denied any part as a "guy" in the beer war, Magnuson related threats which he said were made by several postoffice inspectors who conducted what the defense attorney's claimed one of the "cruelest third degrees possible."

"For nine and one half hours—from 11 p. m. to 8:30 a. m. Magnuson declared, 'the inspectors questioned me in my cell by use of third degree methods in an attempt to gain a confession. They played me next to a steaming hot radiator, which made me perspire excessively. I asked for a drink but it was refused. I was told that I would be lynched if I did not confess. They told me that a 'gang from Marshfield' was after me and that if I did not hurry and confess I'd all that they could not save me."

Upon further questioning by the defense, Magnuson declared that Inspector R. M. Bates, Milwaukee, "framed the handwriting copy on me." He said that Bates told him that if he would submit a copy similar to that on the wrapper which covered the bomb, he would be set free immediately after preliminary examination.

PRESIDENT TAKES HAND IN SUGAR QUIZ

Washington—Although the machinery of the tariff commission already has been set in motion Wednesday to clear up one feature of the much debated sugar situation, it was indicated that at least six months would elapse before the results of its inquiry could be made known.

In a telegram Tuesday night from St. Augustine, Fla., President Harding directed that the commission establish whether the new tariff law is helping to keep up the price of sugar to consumers. Under the flexible provisions of the act, the president is empowered to lower the import duty if conditions warrant it and he has promised to do so if the facts developed by the commission showed the need. Members of the commission estimated that the actual field investigation would require at least a month and would be required thereafter to formulate the commission's recommendations to the president.

LEGISLATURE GETS NEW HIGHWAY TAX PROGRAM

By Associated Press
Madison—A comprehensive program of highway tax legislation is proposed by a bill introduced into the legislature Wednesday at the request of the County Road Association and the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. Through taxes on weight and valuation of automobiles and upon gasoline the bill would raise $10,000,000 annually for state, county and city street improvement.

Under provisions of the bill, a graduated license fee based upon weight, ranging from $8 to $24 is called for to raise $4,000,000 annually. This revenue would be distributed 85 per cent to the state and 15 per cent to the counties.

A valuation tax of 2 per cent of the value of automobiles graded according to the age of the car would be levied to raise $2,500,000. Of this revenue 70 per cent would go to the state and 30 per cent to the counties.

The 2 per cent gasoline tax proposed would raise $3,000,000 annually, 85 per cent of which would go to the state and 15 per cent the counties.

Hart, Movie Star, Accused By His Wife

Los Angeles — Detailed denials from William S. Hart, motion picture actor and his wife, Winifred Westover, Hart, screen actress, of charges that Hart was the father of a child born Sept. 3, 1917 to a Boston school teacher and that Mrs. Hart planned to incorporate the charges in a divorce complaint, became public Wednesday.

"Bill Hart denied categorically the maternity of any child other than William S. Hart, Jr., born to his present Mrs. Hart wife, and declared he never had 'made any trust or other provisions for the support of any child other than my own son, above mentioned.'"

Mrs. Hart's denial was issued through her attorney, who added, "the incident would have no bearing on the case, even if we did want to use it." Records in the district attorney's office showed a stenographic record of accusations made Dec. 6, 1918, by Elizabeth MacCauley in the presence of Hart and Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney, to the effect she had visited the actor in his apartments here two years previously, and that a child had been born to her in New York in Sept., 1917.

According to Asa Keyes, chief deputy district attorney, Hart, although denying the accusation, brought the matter deep enough to pay $50 a month support he agreed to pay for a while. Hart's attorney accompanied the actor to the conference. Keyes said.

"The world cares nothing for hair and whiskers," Smith quoted Hansell as saying. "We will give them free love." A tenant of the House of David faith is the hair and whiskers he allowed to grow long.

Hansell told him Smith continued that Esther Johnson, now Esther Hansell, knew there was $400,000 in an iron safe at Shiloh which was to have been the spoils of the gas attack which defense witnesses have testified was planned by Hansell.

Existence of secret tunnels at Shiloh which were testified to last week by plaintiff witnesses was denied by two defense witnesses Wednesday.

GERMANY WANTS BUSINESS MEN TO DECIDE DEBT

Approval Of American Plan Is Seen In Speech By Foreign Minister

By Associated Press
Berlin—The German government is willing to do everything possible to insure payment of its reparations obligations as they might be determined by an international business men's commission. Foreign Minister Von Rosenberg has informed the foreign relations committee of the Reichstag. The minister declared that the government had communicated to the European powers, with the exception of those directly interested in the Ruhr occupations, its belief that the proposals contained in Secretary Hughes' New Haven speech constituted a feasible means of settling the reparations problem.

He reiterated, however, that the occupied region must be unconditionally evacuated before there could be any negotiations. Submission of the reparations issues to an international commission on which Germany had equal representation would find the German government taking steps toward obtaining an international loan, Baron Von Rosenberg said. The proceeds would be given to the Allies immediately as an advance cash payment.

The bill carries an appropriation of $30,000 to defray expenses of the committee in its investigation. Opposition to the bill was lodged chiefly against this appropriation. The committee would have two years in which to complete its investigation, reporting its findings to 1925 legislature.

Smith bill proposed by Governor Blaine creating a one man state commission to investigate the feasibility of establishing a state owned plant for the manufacture of cement to be used in the construction public highway and bridges under the Nelson bill, which was engrossed by the assembly Wednesday.

PLANS HEAVY PAYMENTS FOR BIG EARNINGS

Exemptions Are Also Increased — Here Are Complete Details

By Associated Press

Madison—Readjustment of the tax burden of Wisconsin by a shift of $6,648,236 in tax from general property to incomes, through operation of a general income tax proposal designed to raise $12,600,000 annually from earnings of individuals and corporations, is provided for in the revenue bill outlined by Governor Blaine to the legislature Wednesday.

To raise this additional amount, together with $1,000,000 more for support of the teachers' retirement fund, the governor proposes in his bill to increase income tax rates on individuals and corporations with larger incomes, and to remove approximately five-sixths of the present personal property offset to the income tax.

Of the $12,600,000 produced by his suggested plan of taxation, $7,800,000 would go to the state, and the remaining $4,800,000 to the localities in which the tax is collected, these localities retaining 36 2/3 per cent of the revenue from the income levy. A personal property offset, amounting to not more than 50 per cent of the income tax allotted to the cities, would be allowed. This would cut the city revenue to $2,400,000.

The tax is to be payable in three installments, 30 per cent at the time of making the return; 33 1/3 per cent on or before July 1, following, and 26 2/3 per cent at the time local taxes are paid.

ENGLISH QUEEN WIRES SON OF DIVINE SARAH

By Associated Press
Paris—Letters and telegrams of condolence continue to arrive at Sarah Bernhardt's home. Among the latest, says Figaro, is the following message from Queen Mother, Alexandra of England to the actress's son, Maurice.

"My heart goes out to you and to your family in the cruel loss you have suffered in the death of your dear and revered mother. I send you my sincere condolence for the great loss which throws into mourning not only yourself but the French nation and the numerous admirers of Madame Bernhardt in England."

Another telegram came from the Latin Press bureau, representing 80 newspapers in the new and old worlds.

BLAINE'S MESSAGE

Madison — The text of Governor Blaine's message in part, follows:
The tentative draft of the general tax bill submitted herewith provides for the creation of a tax commission consisting of single commissioner, to be appointed for 6 years. We have come to the place where administration should be lodged in the hands of undivided responsibility, which means more efficiency and economy.

There are in the state 40 assessors of incomes and 40 assessment districts, costing the state $158,320. There will be no greater efficiency and economy in reducing the number of districts to ten, thereby eliminating 30 assessors receiving salaries approximating $60,000.

WOULD RAISE $12,000,000
The amount contemplated to be raised under the suggested policy in the average normal year is $12,000,000 in income taxes.

The composite rate on the net taxable corporate income of about 6 1/2 per cent. The rates on incomes of corporations are graduated from 2% on the first $1,000; 3% on the second $1,000; 4% on the third $1,000; 5% on the fourth $1,000; 6% on the fifth $1,000 and 7% on all over $6,000, based upon the net income.

The corporate rate is the aggregate of existing income taxes on corporations, modified by such graduation, and conforms to the constitutional policy of the progressive graduated rate.

The bill increases the exemption for children and dependents from $200 to $300. It does not provide for a flat additional exemption, but in effect increases the exemption by levying 1 1/2% on the first $500 and 1% on the second $500. This, a husband and wife or head of a family having one child is given an exemption of $1,750, and a husband and wife or head of a family having two children is given an exemption of $2,500, and of course that exemption is over and above the deductions provided by law.

On the next $1,000 the rate is 1 1/2% on the third $1,000; 2% on the fourth $1,000; 2 1/2% on the fifth $1,000; 3% on the sixth $1,000; 4% on the seventh $1,000; 5% on the eighth $1,000; 6% on the ninth $1,000; 7% on the tenth $1,000; 8% on the eleventh $1,000; 9% on the twelfth $1,000 and all sums thereafter, on the twelfth $1,000 and all sums thereafter, based on the net income.

There is added to such rate, beginning after the first $4,000 of income, 1 1/2% on the first $1,000 and graduated up to the twelfth $1,000, at an increase of one-half per cent on each $1,000 on dividends received as income from corporations, except banks.

These rates make a composite income tax rate on the net taxable income of individuals of about two and one-half per cent. The taxation of state and national banks should be treated in a separate bill on account of the federal court decisions and federal law.

TAX APPORTIONMENT
Section 7119 relating to apportionment of the income tax revenue provides that 30 per cent of the tax shall be paid into the state treasury and exceeding in any one year $3,000,000 in lieu of mill taxes for the university and normal schools, $1,000,000 of which is appropriated for fund 20-251 to the teachers' retirement fund; 33 1/3 per cent not exceeding in any one year $4,000,000 is payable into the state treasury in lieu of mill taxes and other taxes for educational purposes, largely for common schools to be distributed as now provided by law for school purposes; the balance of 36 2/3 per cent is paid to the town, city or village in which the tax is assessed.

The effects of such apportionment relieves the real and personal property of the state of the following amounts, based on the last available date, namely:

Dr. Reeve gave a brief historical sketch of Appleton's parks and told how they were managed. While Mr. Wettengel reviewed the plans of the park committee at the time he was a member years ago. These plans, he said, were not carried out because of lack of support on the part of the common council. Mr. Wettengel touched also on Cherry-st bridge which he said ought to be built at States-st.

Dr. Reeve said when the common council bought the city park between 20 and 40 years ago one of the members informed him he thought he was going to be mobbed before he got down to the next day. At least three residents were leaving for him and wanted to know why the council was spending money for parks which the people did not need.

For nearly 30 years afterwards, until it acquired Platte park and Erb park, the city made no effort to secure additional parks and permitted many opportunities to slip by. During that time, however, certain parks were presented to the city, he said.

LET CHANCES PASS
Among the opportunities which the city let slip by was the purchase of Telulah park and certain ravines along the border of which roads could have been constructed, the speaker declared.

"We have about 100 acres of parks in Appleton," said Dr. Reeve, "while in a city of this size according to experts who have studied the needs of cities, we should have 200 acres. Why is that? Is Appleton too stingy to buy land, or is the land too high?"

The answer is that the city is not the same as it was when it was founded. The council which purchased the city park 30 years ago. We do not realize the need of such things from the standpoint of the city. Now is the time to get busy on matters like this.

"The handling of the park system for a long time was under a park commission. As you probably know it has been changed and now is run by a committee of the common council. I think that is as poor a system as can be made."

ELIMINATE POLITICS
"The development of our parks should not be made a matter of politics under changing personnel. It needs a continuous committee with some desire worked out. We ought to have as much park area as is as signed to cities of this size."

While a member of the park board, Fred Felix Wettengel endeavored to have Jones park extended to College-ave with an entrance on that thoroughfare. He said he made a personal canvass of about 20 property owners who agreed to donate the land as soon as the engineer indicated where the lines were to be. He brought the matter before the common council which tabled it. Some of the lots have since been sold which makes it impossible to carry out the plan at any future time, the speaker said.

Mr. Wettengel suggested the fact that the north end of the ravine, north of the railroad track, was not converted into a park as well as the south end. He called attention to the drainage of Jones park the gift of George C. Jones, and said it seemed rather strange that a park like that should be under water after every rain. He claimed the sewer facilities were inadequate and should be removed.

NEED RIVER FRONT
The speaker said the city made a mistake in the early days in not getting hold of more river frontage for park purposes before it fell into the hands of the railroad companies. While a member of the park board he endeavored to have the Northwestern Railway company abandon its track through Bellare park, the gift of Judge J. H. Harrison, and said he was of the opinion it would have been brought about had not the council failed to function with the board. He is firmly of the belief still that if the matter was taken up by the chamber of commerce the company would consent to vacate the property as the Wisconsin tissue mill is the only industrial plant served by that track.

Referring to Platte park the speaker said it was plucked after a fire fight and the only mistake the city made was it did not purchase the river frontage.

FIRE DEPARTMENT ANSWERS 6 CALLS

Three Homes Are Damaged Slightly When Sparks Cause Roof Fires

Three chimney fires and three roof fires within practically 24 hours on Tuesday and Wednesday placed the fire department on the alert and gave Appleton resident added cause for caution.

Sparks escaping from chimneys and igniting dried shingles were responsible for three roof fires Wednesday forenoon. Damage done to the roof of L. Horton, 782 Lawrence-st, owned by Dr. J. S. Reeve, amounted to approximately $150, while that to the home of Mrs. H. E. Nickelson, 504 E. Third-st, was estimated at about $250. In the latter case it was necessary to chop through the roof to extinguish the blaze. Fire on the roof of a house at 462 Outagamie-st owned by Fisher Brothers, was put out with a small quantity of water Wednesday noon.

Three chimney fires received the attention of the fire department on Tuesday, none of which was serious. The homes affected were those of Edward Albert, 1092 Oklahoma-ave; William Hoh, 951 Durkee-st; John F. Berg, 768 Meade-st.

COUNTY AGENT TO ARRIVE APRIL 15

Robert Amundson, county agent of Oconto-co who has been engaged as agricultural agent of Oconto-co, is expected to be in Appleton next week, but not to take charge of his new field of activity.

Since there has been some delay in securing a successor to Mr. Amundson in Oconto, it is believed he will have to stay the full 60 days previously agreed upon. Although he will make an effort to come earlier, he does not believe it likely that he will be here before April 15, according to information received by Malachi Rye, a member of the agricultural committee that is engaging the agent.

"I have just learned through Mr. Kavanagh of the death of Mr. Dan Brown," the farm agent wrote to the brother of the former county chairman. "Although I only met Mr. Brown twice, I was very much impressed with him and had looked forward with pleasure to working with him. I was very sorry indeed to hear of his sudden death."

Clayton Hackbert has returned to his home, 948 North Division-st, after spending the weekend in Milwaukee. Miss Dinah Goosen has returned from Battle Creek, Mich., where she has been for a month.

on frontage between that park and Alton park, the gift of A. J. Reid. It was not strange that the people 30 years ago lacked judgment in the future of Appleton. Mr. Wettengel declared. They did not realize that concrete roads were to bring so large a portion of the people of the United States through our city, he said.

"We are going to build bridges very shortly," said the speaker. "The old Cherry-st bridge is built," he said, "property will double and triple in value. We voted to put Cherry-st across. I favored Cherry-st, but I honestly believe it is at the wrong location. I believe we should have the bridge at States-st."

Mr. Wettengel called attention to the benefits the Fourth ward and the entire city will derive from the structure in the way of opening up a new and desirable residential district which in time will include the present golf grounds of the Riverview Country club which eventually will find another location.

Furs and Mystery
By A. CARSTENSEN
Plucking and Unhairing Appleton's Furrier

Most every one knows that raw furs must be dressed and dyed before they can be rendered fit to wear. There is another process about which most people know nothing—that of plucking and unhairing.

Nearly all fur-bearers have a coat of long, coarse hairs scattered over their coat of more abundant soft hairs. This under coat is what is known as the "pelt." In most animals the under coat is by far the more beautiful there are a few animals whose skins are equally beautiful when made up natural. To the latter class belong the muskrat, otter and beaver.

Skins which are to be plucked are soaked in water till the leather is softened and the pores opened the skins are then warmed and the lot for the side of the pelt is shaved to cut off the roots of the long hairs. Plucking is then comparatively easy.

Some other skins, principally seal, are plucked by a different process. For this purpose a machine was perfected late in the nineteenth century which makes possible the plucking of a pelt more rapidly and with better results.

It is in this process of plucking or unhairing that certain skins take their first step toward imitating more valuable furs. For instance: muskrat and coney skins are sheared till the surface is of uniform depth. After this they are either made up natural or dyed to resemble some costlier fur.

Whether sold under its own name or some other name, there is a great deal of work in the preparing of furs for the adornment or comfort of their future wearers. The practical and reliable fur dealer knows and understands each operation as well as the "tricks of the trade."

The club is planning to be represented by not less than 100 members.

An announcement was read to the effect that the Harefoot club of the University of Wisconsin will visit Appleton Tuesday, April 3.

W. S. Ford, vice president, presided at the luncheon in the absence of Dr. D. O. Kinsman, president, who is confined to his home by illness.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair
Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely creaseless. It is very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified coconut oil in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

GRANITE YIELD OF WISCONSIN RANKS FIRST IN COUNTRY

Famous Monuments Use Badger Product—Minnesota Is Second

Wisconsin ranks as the first state in the Union in the production of dressed monumental granite. In 1921 her total output was valued at $394,000. Minnesota, her nearest rival, followed with an $310,000 production of this stone while Vermont stood third with a total of $530,000.

Dressed monumental granite in 1921 was valued at an average of $11.35 per cubic foot in Wisconsin, which was the highest average price paid to any state. Maine granite of the same general class brought only $4.00 per cubic foot. The average price throughout the country per cubic foot was $8.92 in 1921.

The five principal granite centers in the state are; Montello, in Marquette county; Lohrville and Red Granite, Waushara county; Amberg and Athelstane, in Marinette county; Wausau, Marathon county; and Berlin, Green Lake county.

GRANITE DESIRABLE

"The features which make the Wisconsin product the most desirable monumental granite in the country are an unusual hardness, a strong contrast between the rough stone and polished surface, which is necessary to bring the carved lettering out distinct; and the ability to take a superior polish," said W. O. Hotchkiss, state geologist.

To illustrate the hardness of the Wisconsin stone he pointed out that Vermont workmen who came to the Montello quarry were obliged to learn their trade over again.

"The Montello granite is one of the hardest, if not the hardest in the United States," said Mr. Hotchkiss. "Wisconsin granite is marketed in all parts of the Union." A special committee which was appointed to select the finest all-around granite in the country for the sarcophagus of the tomb of General and Mrs. Grant, after a careful investigation, decided upon the Montello stone. This granite, dark red in color, stands out for its very fine polish, its hardness and natural beauty.

USED IN MONUMENTS

It has been used in many monuments, among the chief of which are the Gettysburg memorial monument to Wisconsin soldiers and the Custer monument. Its polishing plant is located near the quarry at Montello.

Two varieties of monumental granite are obtained from Wausau. One is of a gray color, while the other is brilliant red. It is of this latter granite that the pilasters at the doors of the Wisconsin assembly and senate chamber are constructed.

Athelstane and Amberg granites consist of a variety of beautiful grays. The polishing plant is situated in the city of Marinette.

The product of Red Granite and Lohrville is of a rich mahogany red color. Its beauty and durability have created a large demand and a constant market. It is finished and polished at Milwaukee. The Berlin stone, which is almost black, is used primarily for curbing and paving blocks.

ROESLER NATIONAL HOLSTEIN MEMBER

Dairymen At Dale Accepted By Holstein-Friesian Association

Announcement is received from L. L. Oldham, secretary of the Wisconsin Holstein association, that Arnold Roesler of Dale, is one of a number of Wisconsin dairymen and breeders recently admitted to membership in the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

The Wisconsin membership in this national livestock organization now numbers nearly 3,600 and Wisconsin is standing next to New York state in point of membership among the many states in the Union.

According to the last census taken by the government in 1920, there were 114,917 purebred dairy cattle on the farms of the state, of which number 80,845 were of the Holstein-Friesian breed.

With a total membership of 22,000 and with 528,000 living animals registered in its herd books, the Holstein-Friesian association of America is the largest breed association in the world. The Wisconsin Holstein association now affiliated with the important county Holstein organizations in Wisconsin is auxiliary of the national body and is heading up the national extension plans now promulgated by President Frank O. Lowden and his associates.

ANNUAL MEETING OF C. OF C. APRIL 9

The annual meeting of the Appleton Chapter of Commerce will take place on April 9 at which time several amendments to the bylaws will be voted upon. The plans for the program are not yet complete, but letters notifying the members of the meeting and its purpose are being sent out.

One of the bylaws which will be voted upon will place the annual meeting on the second Monday in April rather than the second Monday in March as is stated in the bylaws. This date of meeting has made the annual reports of the chamber difficult to compile since the business year for it ends the last of March, but its secretaries was expected to present the annual reports before the close of the year.

HASKIN MAILED 192 BOOKLETS IN WEEK

The total number of letters received for the week ending Thursday, March 15, by Frederic J. Haskin, director of Appleton Post-Crescent information bureau at Washington, D. C., was 34 and the total number of questions answered was 22. Coupons received were: United States maps, 66; raisins, 4; home conveniences, 1; sewing, 2; child's health, 2; book homes, 1; modern homes, 2; rice, 2; fuel, 2; care of teeth, 2; total 85. The total number of miscellaneous bulletins mailed was 85, making a grand total of 192.

Thinks Mayor Able To Stop Sale Of Guns

For some time Mayor Henry Reuter has been the target of revolver law propaganda. He has, in fact, been under almost continuous shell fire from that source ever since he assumed office nearly a year ago. Volleys after volleys of arguments have been hurled at him to convince him that laws for the carrying of revolvers should be made more stringent.

The mayor is convinced from the vast quantity of missiles that some automatic, rapid-firing publicity agent is wasting his ammunition, since mayors cannot enact laws. Soon he will be brought to fear that Appleton is smuggling center of arms, and that the mayor himself is suspected of carrying concealed weapons.

POLICE PRAISED BY U. S. MARSHAL

High praise is accorded Chief George T. Prim of the local police department by Samuel W. Randolph of Milwaukee, retiring United States marshal, for his effective cooperation with the marshal and deputy marshals during Mr. Randolph's term of office. Mr. Randolph's term has expired, he having held that office for eight years since his appointment by President Wilson. The marshal will in the future look after his private interests in Manitowish and elsewhere.

Of this amount $3,976.70 is claimed for money advanced the company, the rest being for labor and commission. Five of the claims are over $1,000, 28 claims are for from $100 to $1,000, and the remaining claims are for amounts below $100.

IN 1921 over 5,000 home owners could not get ARCOLA; yet there are three times as many homes being built in 1923.

How many thousands will be unable to get ARCOLA this year?

IN 1921, 5,000 families who wanted ARCOLA had to go without.

This year three times as many homes are being built as in 1921. Yet because our factories are already over-taxed with orders for larger Ideal Boilers, we can make no more ARCOLAS in 1923 than we made in 1921.

This means just one thing—if you wait until next fall you will be cold next winter.

ARCOLA is our hot-water (or steam) heating plant for small homes—different from any other. It is connected with a genuine American Radiator in each room. That means warm bedrooms; breakfast in a warm dining room; protection for the children from colds and grippe; plenty of hot water for washing and bathing.

Please telephone your Heating Contractor for an estimate today. The installation can be made without disturbing the family; and in three average winters ARCOLA will pay back a large share of its cost in the fuel it saves.

WISCONSIN SHOULD BE THE PREMIER STATE

The principal undertaking of the legislature now in session at Madison is to devise a revision of taxes upward. That is the piece de resistance of the progressive program. One body of progressives wants to raise five or six million dollars more in taxes, entirely through the taxation of incomes, than the state has ever before needed or spent. Another group wants to shift the load from property to income.

What is all this fuss about to disturb the present system of raising revenue and to increase the burdens upon productive enterprise? We think it is as plain as the knob on a door. Under the catch-phrase of "reform" the state of Wisconsin has gone ahead with the enactment of unlimited "progressive" legislation and with almost unlimited increase in public expenditures. The amount spent for state purposes today would never have been dreamed of by the politicians of ten or twelve years ago. Whereas they thought they were doing well with $5,000,000 for administrative purposes at that time, the amount has now increased to more than $20,000,000 annually and the end is not in sight.

Hundreds upon hundreds of new laws have been enacted, boards and commissions almost without number have been created. There has been an average increase of $1,500,000 annually in the last ten years for the maintenance of these boards, commissions, etc. Isn't it time that the people of Wisconsin should expect to see the benefits from this plethora of spending and from this army of inspectors, investigators, etc? What are they getting from the volumes of statutes enacted by the legislatures in the last ten and twenty years? What are they getting from the vastly enlarged personnel of office-holders? What are they getting from $20,000,000 for boards, commissions, etc., that they were not getting ten years ago for less than $5,000,000? Where are the $15,000,000 of benefits this huge increase in expenditures should disclose?

Instead of improvement under all this legislation and all this squandering of money, the politicians tell us that conditions are worse. That was the battle-cries in last fall's campaign. Everything was complaint. Nothing was right. The people everywhere were lectured on their supposed grievances against society, against the government. Their wrongs were portrayed in vivid colors. They were told to send a still more "progressive" legislature to Madison and the wrongs would all be corrected.

Wisconsin is known throughout the rest of the country as one of the most radical states in the Union. Yet its radicalism (progressivism) appears to have gained the people nothing. If half the Progressive politicians told them in last fall's campaign, and that they stand ready to repeat, is true, conditions are worse in Wisconsin than in almost any other state and we need still greater radicalism!

The question is, are we not killing ourselves with radicalism? Aren't we getting more than we can digest? Isn't that the reason, if we get down to bedrock, why conditions are not what they ought to be in this state, why there is so much discontent, why there is such fertile ground for agitators?

Is the squandering of more millions for public purposes, chiefly for boards, commissions, etc., going to help? Is the abolishment of the National Guard going to help? Is the loading down of productive enterprise with additional taxation going to help? Is the abolishment of farmers' institutes going to help? Is the crippling of the College of Agriculture and the stopping of land reclamation demonstration under the University going to help? Is the carrying of so-called child labor protection to extremes that give dance halls, pool rooms and loitering the chief claim on young men and young women instead of wholesome, regulated vacation occupation going to help?

If radicalism and radical legislation were the alchemy that is to transmute poverty into wealth, then Wisconsin ought long ago to have become the happiest and most prosperous state in America. We have the testimony of the administration at Madison that it is anything but this, that conditions are so bad they must still further be revolutionized. How would it be if the agitators and law makers gave industry, agriculture and the people of Wisconsin an opportunity to settle down to constructive endeavor and to work out their economic and other problems in a business-like and rational way. How would it be if they called a halt to the million and a half annual increase for boards, commissions, etc., that has sent the cost of this branch of state government from less than $5,000,000 in 1911-12 to more than $20,000,000 in 1921-22?

LABOR AIDS IN THE DEVOUEMENT

The American people are indebted to conservative organized labor of this country for its efforts to lay bare the truth about Russian communism and the conditions in Russia brought about by soviet government. The forthcoming issue of the American Federationist, the official organ of the American Federation of Labor, is to contain a survey on the Russian situation written by William English Walling, a labor authority and an advanced sociologist.

Russia, says Mr. Walling, is "an army of police, spies, hangmen, and the relative handful that form the communist party, which is ruling the country on the principle that all Russia is its private property and all Russians its serfs." Shipments of grain now being exported from Russia by soviet authorities, he says, constitute only "the latest of a long series of deeds that have helped along the death by starvation of millions of Lenin and Trotsky's miserable subjects." Though crop failures and war have a share of responsibility for Russia's miseries, the great cause of the progressive impoverishment of the people is the "soviet policies of confiscation and denial of incentive to individuals." A complete breakdown of railroads and a gradual cessation of the use of machinery in agriculture and industry, Mr. Walling concludes, have been the outstanding effect of the bolshevik regime.

Mr. Walling's article is based on a report on Russian economic conditions prepared by the League of Nations, but his conclusions are largely drawn from personal experience and study in Russia, where he has spent a great deal of time. According to the Walling article and the report on which it is based, Russia is in a state of virtual anarchy, and we are to infer there is even less freedom for the millions of Russian subjects than there was under the absolutism of the czar. The radicals and destructionists in America still like to point to Russia as an example for the rest of the world to emulate. Conservative organized labor in the United States has not been hoodwinked by the communists or bolsheviks. The American Federation of Labor continues to represent the intelligent and sane thought of organized labor, and it is performing a service to the country in aiding in the Russian reneement.

Perhaps the most notable feature of the Walling article which is to appear in the Federationist is that Russia's plight has been brought about principally by the policies of confiscation and the denial of individual incentive. These are policies that will wreck any nation and any people. Take away the right to own property and to make one's own life what one can by personal effort and resourcefulness, and you have taken away the foundation stone on which human progress and humanity itself have stood through all ages. The most valuable lesson that Russian bolshevism has contributed to the world is to verify this fact, for it has long since admitted the fallacy of communism by modifying its policies of confiscation and by restoring the right of private property in a vain effort to get back to its starting point. Even these concessions have thus far been futile because of the fact that there is still no individual freedom in Russia and the masses of the people are communist serfs.

THE HYGIENE OF SWEATING

A well perspired sweat is one of three quarts a day. The temperature of the air immediately surrounding the body of a clothed person is approximately 59 degrees Fahrenheit under ordinary conditions, and there is a constant insensible or invisible or invisibly fine perspiration going on at that temperature. When the surrounding temperature reaches a point slightly over 91 degrees Fahrenheit the increase of sweating begins. In proportion with the increasing temperature, and the sweat becomes visible.

Right here is where many a squeamish person begins to quail with his or her health. Sweat is so vulgar; according to the more interesting pages of our popular magazine no lady or gentleman should ever be caught sweating.

Not that it matters so much whether one sweats a quart or a gallon a day. Sweat is practically as odorless as a pinch of salt anyhow. So nothing but water and a pinch of salt is so far as elimination of any waste matter or poisonous products in the sweat is concerned it is immaterial how much one sweats. The important purpose of sweating is the regulation of body temperature; the fact that one sweats freely rather indicates an active metabolism which means good health. Although drenching sweats do occur in various disease conditions as a general rule, however, and those whose way of living favors invalidism, do not sweat very much.

A mere trace of carbon dioxide (carbonic acid gas) is excreted in the sweat when sweating is profuse, but this amounts to an insignificant amount, less than one-half of 1 per cent of the amount ordinarily given off by the lungs.

The sweat itself is slightly alkaline but it takes a slightly acid reaction from admixture with the sebum. This acid reaction is due to fatty acids derived from the oily or fatty matter of the sebum. The characteristic sour or somewhat disagreeable odor of sweat is also due to traces of lactic, butyric and other fatty acids. The sweat contains no uric or urea, but sometimes contains minute particles of urea, which is a normal waste product of metabolism.

For the same reason that the suppression or retention of sweat produces no poisonous effect there is no advantage derived from artificial sweating in the hope of eliminating poisonous or waste matter from the system. For the same reason no poison or waste from the body, practically speaking, is thus does not mean that various sweating baths are not of value in the treatment of disease conditions, for they often do great good, say in heart disease with dropsy.

The good sweating does is rather vicarious. Enough exercise to produce sweating is a sure stimulus to metabolism, causing an increased absorption of oxygen in the body; the oxygen helps to burn poisons and waste matters. The sweat is a gauge of the metabolic activity. If you are not squeamish about sweating you enjoy in reality the effects which alleged tonics and blood purifiers promise but do not produce.

Seeding was to commence much earlier than other years. The snow had about disappeared and very little frost was left in the ground.

Mrs. Carson Rogers, who had been very seriously ill at her home at Haddon, was out of danger. William Tesh and daughter Evelyn were out of danger. Mrs. Rogers was beginning to amuse themselves by shooting robins and other song birds with air guns.

Vender's Cries Outlast Ages

(From The New York Sun.)

From the streets of London, long filled with the music of the trade cries of the last notes in fading, according to a recent news dispatch, soon the flower girls, with their "violets, who'll buy my violets?" will be a memory, preserved for other times in books and music as now the cries of 300 years ago are brought to us.

These trade cries form a long and colorful chapter in the history of manners and customs of London. From the fifteenth century, when Dan John Lydgate, a monk of the Benedictine abbey, first gave them literary status in his ballad, London Lackpenny, they have been recorded by poets and musicians and raised to an authentic position as folk poetry. Shakespeare wrote of them in King Lear and elsewhere and the lesser poets and dramatists of his time made frequent reference to the broom sellers, fish dealers and chimney sweeps whose chants filled the streets.

An interesting aspect of the cries was their persistence in a given musical form in the mouths of different vendors. A certain cadence became part of the trade and was passed down with it from father to son.

RAGMEN SING UNIVERSAL CRY

The same tendency is apparent today in the cry of the rag and bottle man who sings his "any rags and bottles, any old iron today?" in slightly differing words but with almost identical score throughout the country. In the southwest an even more striking example of the cry used without change by all those engaged in hawking an article is to be found in the cry of the hot tamale vendor: "Hot tamales, an' they're real hot!"

Many of the London cries which have vanished, of course, have been lost through the passing out of use of the article they celebrated. When water was piped into the houses of London, for example, the man who had walked the streets crying, "Any fresh and fair spring water here?" found that his customers were dead to his cry. Even his manual of water pipes by adding to his call the words, "None of your pipe sludge," did not save him. So, too, the men who cried, "Have you any bellows to mend, have you any wood to cleave?" sought other occupations when bellows became so largely ornamental that their blowing ability was a matter of negative importance. Nor has modern life any need for the services of the woman who walked the streets early morning with a pan under her cloak, crying out, "Any kitchen stuff, have you mays?" with the intention of converting material so obtained into soap and candles.

SOME ARE 400 YEARS OLD

Some old cries persist both in England and here in form differing only slightly from those of 400 years ago. Such is the old clothes man with his "Any old cloze, old cloze, today?" and "Buy cash cloze," his feminine companion—she who cried, "Old satin, old taffety or velvet"—has passed, however.

Apparently the vendors of new articles for new needs have not cared to trouble with the invention of new cries. Most of them are satisfied with a repetition of the price, supported

Illiteracy Is Large In Mexico

Jose Vasconcelos, the head of the bureau of education of the Mexican government, has finished a survey of the country with regard to the ability of the people to read and write. It was shown by a careful census that in some states more than 90 per cent of the population can neither read nor write.

Illiteracy is more prevalent in Southern Mexico than in the more northern part of the country. Far more people can read and write in the states bordering the United States than in the ones farther south. This fact is thought to be due to the educational influence of the neighboring Americans. Taking Mexico as a whole about 80 per cent of the people are illiterate, according to Mr. Vasconcelos.

During 1922 nearly sixty thousand persons were instructed by the bureau of education in reading and writing alone. Ninety per cent of them were adults, according to figures announced by Mr. Vasconcelos. Construction of eight thousand elementary schools which will involve a cost of more than 6 million dollars when completed, is under way. The schools are to be finished within a year.

Q. In what country is farming best organized as an industry? F. J. B.

A. An agricultural economist who has been making such comparisons says that Denmark has the most highly organized agricultural industry in the world. The agricultural producers there have reached a high level of efficiency through cooperative enterprises in production, quality of production and distribution.

Q. In how many colors does slate roof come? D. A. F.

A. The more common colors are gray, bluish gray, and black. Slate roofing can be found in shades of red, or green, in variegated varieties and occasionally in purple.

Q. What will remove scratches from amber or celluloid? D. V.

A. Brush the surface with glacial acetic acid and allow to dry. Take care that the acid does not come in contact with the skin.

Q. What is the difference between blank verse and free verse? C. H. H.

A. In English, blank verse is an

Surely, the vender of hot baked sweet potatoes has as good a cause to sing his succulent wares as did the earlier vender of "hot cele pyes."

Q. How long did Wentworth and Smith live after they published their geometry? A student.

A. Elements of Plane and Solid Geometry was published in 1839, by His son George, and D. E. Smith who G. A. Wentworth who died in 1906, have collaborated in revising editions are still living.

Q. When did Egyptian civilization decline? W. D.

A. The decline of Egypt dates from the fall of the Roman Empire. Immediately after this period Egypt was the scene of innumerable revolts, many of which later occasioned intervention of the greater European powers. This naturally detracted from her development both economically and politically. In 1882 the country was occupied by Great Britain and although the Khedive was allowed to retain his throne he was nominally under British control. Since that period, however, the country has advanced in prosperity.

Q. Do trout give birth to young or do they spawn? L. H. R.

A. The Bureau of Fisheries says that trout spawn. There are 10 or 15 species of fish which give birth to their young. The most common of these species are the guppies and the top minnows.

Q. Can a monkey be taught to read? N. S. D.

A. Monkeys have been seen of sight and discrimination. They can be trained to remain on a perch when shown a card bearing the word no, and to come down when shown one saying yes. This is not reading, however, in the usual sense of the word.

Q. When was cotton first used in making paper? F. A.

A. Paper was made from cotton probably as early as 600 A. D.

Q. How many people carry life insurance of $1,000,000 or more? S. A.

A. A recent report says that 50 men and 2 women carry policies amounting to at least $1,000,000.

THE TUBERCULIN TEST

Editor Post-Crescent—The gentleman whose article of criticism of the tuberculin test which appeared in the March 19 issue, probably never saw a slaughter demonstration of a tuberculin cow. If he had he probably would never again sit by the side of a cow to draw milk without wondering if the product had not in some manner come in contact with pus pockets of a discarded cow, as no outward appearance can be used as a determining factor, and no reasonable person would want to use milk, nor sell milk from a tuberculin cow, which is common in some herds.

Scientific research and practical demonstration has proven the test very reliable under the recent methods of its application, but I would not attempt to convert an old time Republican or Democrat to the opposite belief, nor any thing of like nature. When a person rejoices in his belief it is his personal liberty; possibly his principal pleasure. Fourteen countries have had the test applied. Ten more are now in with full requirements as applicants and sixteen more are securing signatures, making a total of 40.

Estimating the possible cost of testing and payment for diseased animals at $25,000 per county, and 71 counties to be taxed for the payment, would require Outagamie-co. to pay in round numbers $3850 for each county tester, and 40 counties would cost Outagamie-co. approximately $14,000. Then will it pay Outagamie-co. to be "dead set" against it and pay its share to help other counties, taking nothing itself, or to hasten to get into the game.

I am positive that unless the gentleman, throws of his prejudices now and turns in to help this matter through as proposed, in less than two years he will be a regretful man for his position taken. I have several blank petitions and will be pleased to send one to him to secure additional signatures so we may both eventually rejoice over the one result.

Rosebush as vice president; Mrs. August Meyer, second vice president; Mrs. Herman Ritter, recording secretary; Mrs. Herman Heckert, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. C. Hilfert, treasurer; Mrs. J. L. Johnson, assistant treasurer; Mrs. D. O. Kinsman, Mrs. Julius Kahn, Mrs. Robert Hickworth, Mrs. Emma Voeks and Mrs. D. P. Steinberg, directors at large.

After the election the meeting was turned over to Mrs. D. O. Kinsman as chairman of the building committee. In her report from the committee, Mrs. Kinsman said that the proposition which the committee had hoped to present at this time was the purchase of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music. On his trip east Dr. Plantz found that it would not be advisable to make any arrangements for the disposal of the buildings at this time. The committee is now considering several other sites and will make a report as soon as possible.

DIVIDE STAFF

The executive staff of the building committee has been divided into sections to facilitate the work which must be done for the building. Mrs. F. S. Bradford, Mrs. L. C. Sleeper, Mrs. John Morgan, Miss Martha Chandler and Miss Emily Adams will constitute the group to work on plans for the building.

Mrs. S. C. Rosebush, Mrs. August Meyer, Mrs. Gustave Keller, and Mrs. Frank Wright will look about for a site, while Mrs. S. C. Rosebush, Mrs. J. E. Thomas, Mrs. G. E. Buchanan, Mrs. P. H. Ryan, Mrs. L. J. Marshall and Mrs. A. H. Wicksberg will make plans for the campaign for funds and compile a list of possible donors. Mrs. Richard Meyer and Miss Marie Kelly will have charge of the publicity, while Mrs. Frank Schneider will have charge of the booster meetings and stunts.

Miss Neeta Edwards of Neenah spoke after the report of the committee was read. She told the women that there is no doubt that the Fox River valley needs just such a building as the Appleton women want and that the Appleton women are just the women to get it if they work hard enough. She stressed in an inspiring way the great help that the building would be not only to the women and girls who work for it, but to those who come after. She urged the women to get busy at once.

Mrs. Frank Schneider, who had charge of the songs for the booster meeting suggested that all the women in the building committee divisions make up songs to be used during the campaign. She announced the meeting of a stunt division committee for running expenses on Thursday.

Pageant To Be Given By S.S. Group

One of the outstanding church events Easter Sunday will be the pageant, "The Dawning," which is to be presented by pupils of the senior department of the First Congregational Sunday school. It will be staged in the auditorium at 7:30 and the public is invited.

More than 30 persons will take part and are going through daily rehearsals.

The pageant is the story of the resurrection in spoken word and song, true to the Biblical story in dramatic form. It brings out beautifully the events centered around the crucifixion, resurrection and ascension of Christ.

Appropriate music interprets the moods and emotion of those who took part in these events at the original Easter time. Solos, duets and choruses singing will be prominent in the program, and the singers will be supported in the musical parts by a hidden choir. Young people who do the acting will be the soloists.

This service has become an annual event in the church's holy week program, and draws a larger attendance each year.

SOUND TESTIMONIAL EVIDENCE

showing the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women is constantly being published in this paper. The strongest recommendation any article can have is that borne by the persons who use it. Once ill with ailments that caused suffering and despair, but now restored to the joys of health, from a grateful heart multitudes of women write letters of appreciation to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. of Lynn, Mass. Such evidence of the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of women should induce every suffering woman to try it.

ASSEMBLY IS NOT RADICAL ENOUGH, SCHRIMPF SAYS

Outagamie-co Law Maker
Hints Blaine Is Playing Politics

Assemblyman Charles Schrimpf from the First district of Outagamie-co will vote against Governor Blaine's tax bill if the governor does not include the repeal of the personal property offset, the assemblyman declared in a letter to the Post-Crescent. He hints that the governor's political ambitions are prompting him to make changes in the legislature tax bills so that they will bear the governor's name.

Mr. Schrimpf comments on the description of the assembly as "radical" and declares the assemblymen do not believe it is "radical" enough. He contends that the repeal of the personal property offset, which is much more conservative measure than the changes in legislative measures after they pass the house that there would be little left of them if they were not quite radical when they passed the lower branch of the legislature.

Mr. Schrimpf's letter follows: The past week was quite an exciting one here at the Capitol. All the papers played up the break between the governor and the speaker over the tax question but it did not materialize as was expected.

Tuesday evening we had a caucus to find out how the members stood on taking action Thursday evening on the so-called Hanson bill (it really as far as I have learned the governor's) to repeal the personal property offset.

You see there has been a lot of opposition to this part of the proposed bill and the governor who has future political ambitions, is up against it so in order to satisfy the opposition and at the same time try to keep himself in line for some near future campaign he is trying to have a tax measure passed bearing his name.

Yours truly happened to be one of the minority at the caucus who insisted on laying the bill on the table for Thursday evening, because I said there and still do say that we should show our courtesy to him as Governor and wait until he has his tax bill ready (which he promised to do before we went home for our Easter dinner).

Remember this personal property offset is a very big item, if it were not there would not be such big opposition. In Appleton alone on income taxes paid in 1922, $102,217.14 was used as an offset and in round numbers all over the state about six million.

I am a staunch believer in the repeal of the offset and if the governor omits this in his tax bill (and I believe he will) I will vote against it.

The governor in his message in 1920 recommended the repeal of the personal property offset so then why this change?

It's amusing how all the papers that were opposed to the governor for reelection are giving him such front page write ups. Think this over and ask yourself why?

Also amuses us to see how the papers are calling the assembly radical. Says, we don't think we are radical enough! I admit some bills we pass are not just what we want but by the time the senate gets through with it, it's pretty good. If we would pass what we know is right and they doctor it up there would be nothing left of our bill.

I also notice that editorially you are trying to divide the Farmer-Labor movement politically.

Let me give you the following figures and they are facts. There are 100 members in the assembly and 55 classify themselves as farmers. Here is how they voted on the bill: 45 for and 4 against. The Farmers Institute 26 for and 16 against. Eight hour day 24 for and 21 against. So if these questions would have been left to the farm members only they would have been passed. The above votes were taken by our voting machine.

The money spent for land clearing and Farmers Institutes will be turned over to the Agriculture department of Economics by a bill Mr. Giffler has ready but not yet introduced. (He is waiting to see what action the senate is going to take on these two bills).

The farmers on the floor speaking in favor of abolishing these two institutes claimed that its a duplication of work that the County Agent has taken over, and what they need is more cooperative marketing which they will get through the Agriculture department of Economics. The only farmer speaking in favor of the Farmers Institute is an institute worker and he told me he gets $8.00 per day and expenses when working.

Yours truly,
Chas. Schrimpf.

They took their dinners with them which they prepared over an open fire on the bank of the river near Kimberly interurban station. They returned home on an interurban car. Tuesday afternoon they made a trip through the plant of the Knokke Lumber company and the Konz box factory. The trip scheduled for Wednesday was through the mills of Fox River Paper company.

ON THE SCREEN

"PARSON" CHAPLIN'S SERMON BRINGS DOWN HOUSE

Charles Chaplin's art as a pantomimist is revealed at its best in "The Pilgrim," the first National feature comedy that is bringing tears of laughter to the Elite Theatre this week. One of the most notable exhibitions of his peculiar ability is his rendering of the story of David and Goliath when, as an escaped convict who has donned a minister's clothing, he is forced into the pulpit.

The impromptu sermon is vividly illustrated and delivered without the aid of a subtitle, but though a boy applauds vigorously, and Chaplin takes an encore, the rest of the congregation is not favorably impressed. That's on the screen. Off the screen the audience only stops laughing to gasp.

WAS WM. HART "THE LAST OF THE STAGE COACH BANDITS"

William H. Hart, who is today the most noteworthy male figure on the screen, and the idol of Americans is seen at the Elite Theatre today and tomorrow in his masterpiece. In this play you will see the beloved Wm. S. Hart accused of being "The Last of the Stage Coach Bandits" and you also see how quick justice is dealt out in the land where the ever-present spirit is to do your shooting first and argue afterwards. This play will offer "the two-gang man of the silent drama" in an entirely new characterization, a deviation from all past portrayals. He will be seen as a typical Bret Harte gambler in a story of California in the early fifties. Instead of the usual Hart habitations, he dresses the part in high heeled boots, old-fashioned stock and frilled shirt-bosom, flowered waistcoat and broadcloth coat, and the polished boots of the period. But to those who can only picture Hart in his past delineations it can be safely said that he presents as striking an appearance in this costume as he has in other Western outfits.

Mr. and Mrs. John Maurer returned home to Milwaukee Wednesday after a brief visit with Appleton friends.

Lothar Kuchel of Dale was an Appleton visitor Tuesday.

INGROWN TOE NAIL

How to Toughen Skin so Nail
Turns Out Itself

A few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic, manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

What did you see today?
Did you tell the family about the things that you saw and that interested you during the day? Did they enjoy hearing it?

If they did the chances are that hundreds of other people also would like to hear it. Why not report it to the I Spied Today editor and get two free tickets to the Elite theatre for your trouble?

Charles Chaplin and William S. Hart are the attractions at the playhouse this week. The Elite always has good programs and the Post-Crescent offers two free tickets for every item printed in the I Spied Today Column. Put the two together and get busy.

NEED SOME MORE LIKE HIM

Tuesday morning on my way to work, I spied a boy standing at the corner of Seventh and State streets, passing across a slippery stretch of sidewalk. I concluded that he was a Boy Scout doing his daily good turn.

IT WAS A WET POND, TOO

Friday evening, I spied a boy riding on a bicycle down the avenue. When he reached the corner of Brewster he ran into a small pond of water. His bicycle slipped out from under him and he sat down in the middle of the pond, with a splash.

THAT'S USING HIS HEAD
Tuesday afternoon, on Spencer-st I saw an amusing incident. A hay wagon went by and in back of it was a horse eating the hay. The man driving the horse let him eat till he was full and then drove ahead, H. G.

COW PULLED OTHER WAY
Saturday afternoon I spied a Ford car on Oneida-st which seemed to be having a hard time to make headway. I did not notice until the car had passed that a cow was tied to it. The cow did not want to walk along with the car so she pulled the Ford with such a force that she almost made the Ford come along the way she wanted it to go. H. H.

DIRECTED HER TO STORE
While standing in a Kaukauna garage Saturday I saw an elderly lady come in and begin to talk German to the salesman who was standing near her and who could not understand a word she said. When she discovered he could not understand her, she handed him a piece of paper. When he opened it, he saw a prescription from a local doctor. He pointed out a nearby drug store, gave her the prescription and she left. G. A. F.

HAS BEEN WATCHING HIM

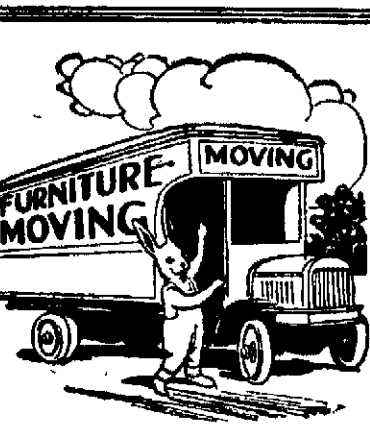

The driver of Buick Sedan, License No. 80,569, would benefit greatly by spending some time with a book of rules for driving, judging by what I have seen him do in the last few days. I first noticed him driving at a reckless rate in ruts on West College-ave.

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction, often at a very rapid rate, and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overweightness, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. Stout persons suffering from such diseases as Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Eczema, Asthma and high blood pressure are greatly relieved by a reduction of their superfluous fat.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of your superfluous fat. The medicinal ingredients I employ do not depend for their reducing power upon starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Taking them, they should produce a loss of weight without you doing anything else.

If you are over-stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my FREE TRIAL TREATMENT and my plan whereby I am to be PAID ONLY AFTER REDUCTION HAS TAKEN PLACE if you so desire.

Now a QUICK Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

Women Wanted

Quick cooking—here it is

Countless women have asked for an oat dish that cooks quickly. Now our experts have perfected it. Quick Quaker cooks in from 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest cooking oats in the world. Now your grocer has Quick Quaker as well as the regular.

Just smaller, thinner flakes

No change whatever in quality or flavor. But in Quick Quaker the oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small, thin flakes cook quickly.

In both you get that matchless flavor which has won the world to Quaker. Both are flaked from the finest grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get only ten pounds of these premier flakes from a bushel. But that is why Quaker Oats dominates. Millions of mothers, in every clime, send overseas to get it.

You want your children to love oats. It is their food of foods. Then always get this super-flavor. Get Quaker—Quick or regular—the style that you prefer.

Regular Quaker Oats
Come in package at left—the style you have always known.

Quick Quaker Oats
Come in package at right, with the "Quick" label. Your grocer has both. Be sure to get the style you want.

SIR NORMAN'S STORY

"I should not have thought," she agreed, "that he would have had courage enough to wring the neck of a chicken."

I regarded her fixedly.

"Why don't you try to earn the reward?" I asked.

"I am thinking about it," she replied. "If I have any luck, I'll come to you."

She left me then, and I went for a stroll along the front. Seated in one of the shelters, a little away toward the shore, was a young man who I felt sure from his description, was Sidney Bloor. I looked around and found that one of Rimmington's men was seated on the other side of the shelter. I touched the young man on the arm, and his violent start assured me that I had not made a mistake.

"I believe that you are Mr. Sidney Bloor," I said. "Can I have a few words with you?"

"Let us take a stroll along the sands," I suggested. And then, as we walked along side by side:

"I have no official connection with this case, Mr. Bloor," I began, "but the hotel company have asked me to make a few inquiries. If you are guilty, the police will probably bring the crime home to you. If you are not—"

"I am not!" he interrupted passionately.

"If you are not," I repeated, "I am here for your assistance. Remember, I am here to discover the truth and to try and fix the guilt on any particular person. Why don't you tell me the truth?"

He was silent for several moments. "I decided, piecing together the story he had made up, his mind to tell. He went farther, however, than I had expected.

"They were stolen before I could get at them. I made her take them off before we went out to breakfast. They were left in a drawer, not even locked up. The first time I cut out of the rubber, I came back to the hotel. I went up to her room and searched the drawer where the jewels had been put. They were gone."

Back to the bride-party, about two o'clock, said good night to her in her sitting-room, had a whiskey soda and went to bed. That's all I know about it. So help me God!"

"When you couldn't find the diamonds, why didn't you take the jewelry?" I asked as we turned back.

"I should have been seen carrying it," he replied, "and I had no tools with which to open it. I am not a professional thief."

"You are aware that the evidence looks black against you?" I pointed out.

"I can't help it," he answered sullenly. "I didn't do it."

I left him on the promenade, and saw him stroll across the road to a chemist's shop for a pick-up. I went back to the hotel, and discovered that my friend Inspector Rimmington from Scotland Yard had already arrived and had taken over formal command of the case. He was waiting for Bloor, whose very unenviable dossier he had brought down with him. I glanced it through without any particular interest. Rimmington watched me curiously.

"The young man is a thoroughly bad lot," he observed.

"There's only one thing in his favor," I nodded. "When you talk to him, you will realize that he is a decent, young man without nerve or any manlike quality. Now I don't know whether it has ever occurred to you, Rimmington, but I should imagine it would take a person with great nerve strength to hold a woman by the throat and watch her die."

Rimmington was unconvinced. "I shall know better when I have talked to him, perhaps," he remarked.

I took the midday train to town, and traveled in the Pullman with Mr. Leon Grant, the manager of the hotel, who was on his way up to confer once more with the directors. He showed me a cable from Mrs. Trumpington Smith's son, who was on his way back from Egypt. It ran as follows:

Greatly shocked. Arrive 11th. Hope police will discover criminal. Believe jewels principal part mother's estate. Offer reward immediately for return anyone not connected crime.

"I am suggesting a tenth part of the insured value," he announced. "I shall see the solicitors before I return."

As we drew into Victoria, I offered my companion a lift. He refused, however, on the ground that he had a case of wine in the van, which he was taking back to a wine-merchant. I made a few calls, then at my club, and traveled back again to Brighton by the late train. I met Rimmington in the hall of the hotel and he strolled into the manager's office. Mr.

Leon Grant, looking more tired than ever after his long day in town, was speaking passionately into the telephone.

"It is absurd," he declared, as we came in. "I spoke from the number 1 am asking for several times this afternoon. The telephone is in perfect order."

"If you are speaking of Mayfair 1332, Mr. Grant," I intervened, "I am afraid the supervisor is correct. The number is disconnected."

His face, as he looked at us, grew horrible. The receiver slipped from his fingers and fell to the floor.

"What do you mean?" he gasped. "Simply that Scotland Yard disconnected your flat in town, for fear you should ring up and find out that the case of wine you brought up to London has been opened," I explained.

"Rimmington, this is your job," Rimmington was quick, but not quick enough. Grant's right hand was in the drawer by his side in a moment, and the silver-plated little revolver at his temple. I believe he was a dead man before the inspector laid hands on him.

Rimmington came to my sitting-room later on, and helped himself to a whiskey and soda.

"A little secretive this morning, weren't you, Sir Norman?" he observed.

"We wanted the jewels," I pointed out. "Directly the man told me he had a case of wine in the van, I knew that everything was all right."

"When did you get his dossier?" "By the second post this morning," I replied, "and a pretty bad one it was. He has a flat in town under another name; he owes one bookie over two thousand pounds, and his domestic arrangements were, to say the least of it, irregular. He was desperately in need of money."

"Even now the reconstruction isn't absolutely simple," my companion mused. "Leon Grant evidently made his way to Mrs. Trumpington-Smith's rooms after her return; she woke up while he was making off with the jewelry-box, and he strangled her. But what about the two visits from Bloor, earlier in the evening, and the missing diamonds? I think you said that they were not in the jewelry-box which you have recovered?"

"I imagine that the night-watchman must have made a mistake," I told him. "On the other hand, Bloor may have already disposed of the diamonds. Again, they may have been mislaid and will be brought in for the reward."

"What first of all made you think of Grant?" Rimmington asked a little later, as he was preparing to take his leave.

"A very slight thing," I answered. "The woman was strangled, as you know, although the finger-marks were undistinguishable. There was a scratch upon her throat, and a few drops of blood, evidently caused by the fingernail of the murderer. Now, Sidney Bloor's fingernails are almost to the quick. The man-ger's, on the other hand, were really noticeable. They were long, and brought to a point. The nail on his right forefinger, however, was broken off short."

"I see," Rimmington replied. "Good night."

I sat up for some little time, waiting for what I felt sure was inevitable. It was nearly one o'clock when there was a soft knock at the door, and in reply to my invitation, Janet entered. She closed the door behind her and came toward me.

"I have found the diamonds," she announced.

"I congratulate you," I replied. "I have heard all that has happened," she continued. "There will be no trouble about the reward?"

"None whatever," I assured her. She laid them upon the table—the necklace, the bracelet, and the earrings.

"Where did you find them?" I asked. "In the small silk bag which Mrs. Trumpington-Smith took with her to the bride-party," she replied. "She came to her room for a moment just before starting, and must have taken them without saying anything to anybody."

"A most ingenious supposition," I murmured.

She looked at me for a moment with the strangest light in her eyes. I opened the door for her.

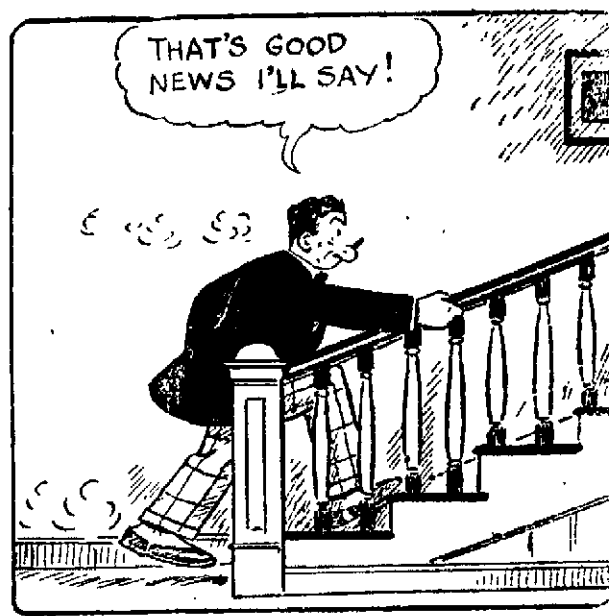

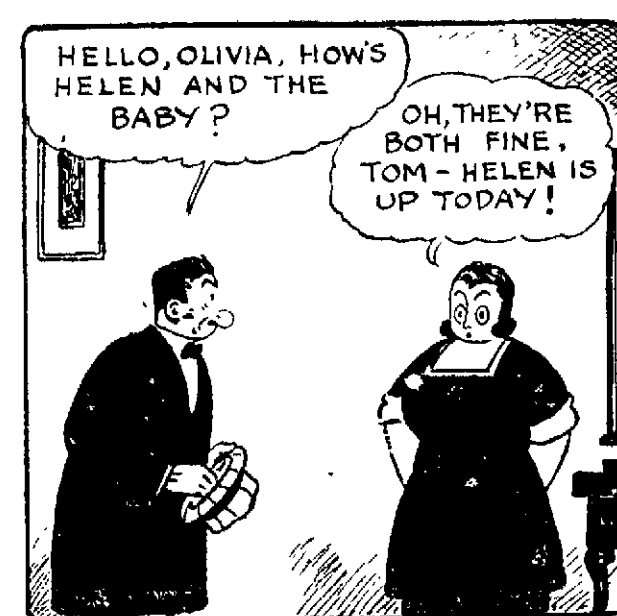

"Good night, Janet," I said. "I have stood in the way of your fortunes more than once. This time I am able to remind myself that Mrs. Trumpington-Smith is not my client. The reward will certainly be paid."

HERZOG, FORMER DRY OFFICER, IS OFF TO U. S. JAIL

Manitowoc Young Man, Well Known As Ball Player, Gives Up Long Fight

Bertram P. Herzog, Manitowoc, former federal dry enforcement officer at Milwaukee, and well known here as a baseball player with the Monarchs team of the Wisconsin State League, has given up his fight to retain his liberty after conviction of accepting bribes from an alleged illicit whisky ring. Herzog surrendered to federal officials in Milwaukee late on Tuesday and is to be taken at once to Fort Leavenworth to serve a sentence of seven years.

Herzog was convicted in federal court in Milwaukee nearly two years ago on a charge of accepting $15,500 in bribes from members of the whisky ring. After his conviction he made a determined fight to have the verdict changed. He played baseball in the Fox River valley all last summer.

TWO LAWRENCE MEN TO JUDGE CHILTON CONTEST

Karl Trever and Karl Wundeshelm, two senior students at the public speaking department of Lawrence college left Appleton at noon on Wednesday to judge a contest at Chilton high school on Wednesday evening. The contest will be a combination of oratory and declamation. Both students have had considerable work in criticism of public speaking as well as actual participation in contests and debates.

Herzog, after a brilliant record as first lieutenant overseas, was appointed to the dry post by former President Wilson.

During his regime the whisky ring developed and Milwaukee was flooded with carload after carload of illicit liquor.

Government investigation finally discovered that the prohibition office showed laxity in investigating the matter.

Suspicion was directed against Herzog and shortly after Joseph Custer, former internal revenue collector of Kenosha, went to the United States district attorney's office and told all.

Herzog was mentioned in Custer's confession as having received large amounts of money from members of the ring so that he would give "protection" to the carload distribution here and in Kenosha.

REPUDIATED CONFESSION
Herzog was taken into custody and according to H. A. Sawyer, former United States district attorney, made a confession in which he admitted himself involved.

When Herzog's trial was called, he declared his confession was made under duress. His defense was based on this claim.

A jury however, found him guilty. Several efforts at obtaining a new trial were made by David S. Rose, Herzog's counsel, but failed. It is understood now that executive clemency will be sought in consideration of Herzog's war record.

'Y' TO BUILD IF MONEY IS RAISED TO MEET BIDDERS

Still Hunt Will Be Made For Balance For Addition To Dormitories

The building committee of the Y M. C. A. met Tuesday evening and opened bids for the dormitory addition. Bids for the general work were submitted by Earl F. Miller, Inc., Wisconsin Engineering & Construction company, Fraser & Grounke heating, W. S. Patterson company, electrical work, Langstadt & Meyer company, Langstadt Electrical company, Valley Construction company, plumbing, W. S. Patterson company.

The board of directors met after the conference with the Green Bay delegates and received the report of the building committee. Official action was taken to start on a still hunt for the rest of the money necessary to build this addition without debt.

This "no debt" policy was used in the original building and will be continued for this addition. The board will meet in a few days with some of the active workers and make a canvass for the balance of the funds. The board favored going ahead with the project but does not want to incur a debt.

The addition will provide two additional rooms for boys' work, large handball court and 18 dormitory rooms. It will greatly improve the west elevation of the main building as it will fill in the gap.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples Are Impurities Seeking An Outlet Through Skin Pores

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus causing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Have you a pleasant effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear. adv.

EMKE SIGNED FOR BOXING SHOW HERE WITH WOLPIN

BATTLE TO BE STAGED APRIL 5 IN ARMORY RING

St. Paul Fighter Will Meet Appleton Middleweight For Ten Rounds

William Emke, the annihilator of Nuss and winner of many other ring fights, will meet Billie Wolpin, Appleton's middleweight, in a show to be staged by the Mid-West Athletic club Thursday April 5, in the Armory G arena.

Announcement of the signing of Emke and Wolpin was made Wednesday by Elmer Johnson, the paper City promoter and comes on the heels of a virtual demand by quite a few of the local boxing fans that the two scrappers meet.

SOUGHT QUINN FIRST
Johnson announced that he had been after Emke almost as soon as he found out that Gunner Joe Quinn would be available. It was originally planned to get Quinn to meet the Appleton fighter because of the enmity that exists between the two, the result of differences dating back to the time when Wolpin and Quinn were stable mates and sparring partners in St. Paul.

Emke also comes from St. Paul. He made an impression in Badger boxing circles a few moons ago when he knocked out Jimmy Nuss of DePere in a battle in Milwaukee. Emke also liked Choinisky in a show given at Marinette. Johnson landed the St. Paul scrapper through a telephone call with Mike Gibbons who was in Peoria with one of his stable men.

Emke, like Gunner Quinn, is under the management of Gibbons and Collins, the veteran boxers and managers.

BILLIE IN CHICAGO

According to Manager Johnson, Billie Wolpin left for Chicago where he will train in the Arcade gymnasium. Wolpin went to the Windy City to get a better variety of training partners which he couldn't find in Milwaukee.

Johnson announced that the April 5 show will contain about 26 rounds of fighting, ten in the main event, two six round scraps and a four round opener. Although he said that the preliminary principals are virtually signed up, announcement of the balance of the card will be made Thursday.

KAUKAUNA CUE MEN BOW TO LOCAL TEAM

Drgwenek and Zwick, the Kaukauna challengers of the Fox River Peck and Billard tournament conducted by Carr & Hansen, Appleton, proved no match for Oaks and McCoy, Paper City defenders.

Drawnwick and Zwick were beaten 100 to 41 Tuesday night in the match held on the Carr and Hansen tables. Once the Appleton cue men got a lead there was no further danger for them.

Harry Vandersen, the Little Chute "boy wonder," will invade the Carr & Hansen rooms Wednesday night for 100 point match with Henry Liethen, Appleton. The game will start at 8:30.

Announcement was made Wednesday by the officials of the City Peck & Billard tournament that upon reviewing the records it was discovered that Haven and Oaks finished second and Drexler and La Fond third and that it will not be necessary to play off any games between those two teams. Liethen and Selg won the title.

SHOOT 1,285 FOR SECOND PLACE IN A. B. C. DOUBLES

Milwaukee Leaders Are Nearly Topped—Jimmy Smith Disappoints

Milwaukee—Changes in the leaders of the singles and doubles events of the American Bowling congress tournament featured Tuesday's play with C. Schenk, Syracuse, showing the best form when he shot into fifth place of the singles with a total of 700 completed on games of 275, 219 and 206. This is the first time in the history of the A. B. C. that it has taken a 700 total or better to enter the list of the first five leaders in the individual event.

The leading doubles mark of 1,295 pins held by F. Kolacke and J. Jacobs of Milwaukee, quaked and almost crumbled when O. Klatt and J. Burmeister of Chicago, bowled strikes and came within ten pins of the lead, 1,285. Burmeister counting 693 and his team mate 592.

Two teams tied for fourth place in the doubles, W. Rossiter and E. Pierce, Chicago, and W. Wienhaus and C. Frank, Louisville, when they swept the alleys for a 1,276 count.

Jimmy Smith, former world's champion who shot Tuesday night with the Smith Arcades of Milwaukee, disappointed a packed house by his low games. Smith's total was 607.

AFTER JACK'S CROWN

FIRPO, SOUTH AMERICAN WHIRLWIND

Buenos Aires Willing To Blow Lot Of Jack To See Firpo-Dempsey Go

Million Dollar Bout Would Pay, Declares Writer—Natives Believe Louis Can Beat Jack And Cop World Crown

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
People who think it's foolish to talk about a $500,000 to $1,000,000 offer from Buenos Aires for a fight between Luis Angel Firpo and Jack Dempsey don't know the Argentine. Buenos Aires, with its suburbs, is a city of 2,000,000 population, there's barrels of money there, the South Americans are free spenders and they are fight crazy.

DON'T LIKE NORTHERNERS
What's more, they don't like North Americans. There are mighty few Argentines, even among those who don't care particularly for fighting.

Charles P. Stewart of the NEA staff, who discussed the possibilities of a Dempsey-Firpo match in Buenos Aires, returned a year ago from a residence of six years in the Argentine capital, where he published his own newspaper, "The River Plate American," including a sporting department which brought him in contact with all the boxing element of that country. He has seen Firpo perform frequently and is well acquainted personally with all the men interested in arranging a match for him in his own home town with the champion, as well as the conditions under which such an affair would be pulled off.

who wouldn't dig up the last centavo they could steal, beg or borrow to see one of their countrymen try to lick anybody. The personal element enters into it a good deal more than in this country. Jack Dempsey's only name to the average North American. About a fourth of the population of Argentina, lives right in Buenos Aires, where Firpo lives, and in Buenos Aires, which has a lot of small-town characteristics in spite of its size, everybody knows everybody. Mighty few of the inhabitants haven't seen Firpo with their own eyes and there are thousands who, even if he isn't aware that he's acquainted with them, think they know him, at least to speak to.

Then again, in fight matters, South Americans lack a sense of perspective. They have lots of fights but the fights, while they slug all right, have precious little science. In Buenos Aires a good pork-and-beaner ranks as a top-notch. Now Firpo, though possibly not in Dempsey's class, is better than a pork-and-beaner. The Buenos Aires fans have seen him knock the tar out of men that they don't realize aren't the best the world has to offer. Naturally they overestimate him.

FIGHT SURE TO DRAW
Buenos Aires as a crowd center, is at the disadvantage of being a long way from other big towns whence to draw visitors. Buenos Aires itself, however, could be depended on to turn out almost in a body and there certainly would be a big attendance also from places like Rosario, Cordoba and Bahia Blanca, which are pretty far from Argentine burghs; from Santiago and Valparaiso, over in Chile; from Montevideo, in Uruguay, and even from as far away as Santos, Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro, up in Brazil.

Maybe if an Argentine syndicate should put up as high as 1,000,000 to get all its money back, with a profit, but that wouldn't be such a bad bet—not half as bad as other chances Argentine money has taken of late.

It's also suggested that perhaps the Argentine authorities wouldn't permit the fight within their jurisdiction.

HOLDING FIGHTS
True, theoretically fights are forbidden in Buenos Aires, but the Universities club and the Police club hold them there right along just the same, with the utmost publicity, and nobody interferes with them.

Even if the municipal "intendente" were to have a fit of virtue and shut down on a go between Firpo and Dempsey, there are plenty of facilities for getting outside the city limits, and beyond them anybody can pull off anything.

But that Buenos Aires itself should object is beyond the bounds of reasonable probability. If a fight offer should come, or has come, from Buenos Aires, it's an absolute certainty that one of the principal men behind it is Carlos Seguin, the leading Argentine amusement magnate and a multi-millionaire. Any thing Seguin asks the Buenos Aires authorities for he gets, and he's proved it by asking for and getting some things that aren't mentioned here for fear he might come up and sue for damages.

And behind Seguin is Carlos Tornquist, the Argentine banker, who was reputed a couple of years ago to have bought the Monte Carlo gambling concession for the equivalent of $10,000,000 in United States money. Whether he really did buy it is neither here nor there. The point is that nobody questioned his ability to pay $10,000,000 for it without missing the money.

That's the kind of cash and influence that would look after a Firpo-Dempsey fight, if one should be staged in Buenos Aires. Of all the people mentioned in connection with the fight-in-Argentina plan, aside from Firpo himself, Tornquist is the only one who knows much about the country.

TEX KNOWS COUNTRY
Tex knows a lot. He lost a roll there, estimated to have contained about $1,000,000, U. S. gold. Rickard's big idea was to found a big estate in what's known as the Chaco, which, roughly translated, means "wilderness," a vast region in the country's extreme north—good land, but practically uninhabited, except for a few Indians and vast numbers of man-eating wild animals and poisonous snakes.

He got a concession the size of a Texas county, fitted out an expedition at Embarras, the point of rail, and started to trek a week through the jungle to the Pilcomayo river, on which his land was situated. The expedition left Embarras with everything necessary to build a modern city on the Pilcomayo bank, but not much of it ever got that far. The mules and cattle strayed away in the jungle and were lost. Expensive

*One tie game.

Although the official schedule of the Appleton City Bowling league came to a close Tuesday night the battle for the city's bowling supremacy is far from over.

The championship hinges on the rolling off of the tie game between Elks Imperials and the Hoffman Construction Co., which at the present time is being held by the Elks on the strength of totals. At a meeting of the league officials Tuesday night it was ruled that the tie game must be rolled off with each participant throwing a single ball. The meeting which was held before Tuesday night's bowling program voted that the Imperials and the Construction five need not battle out the tie if the Imperials would clinch the flag by taking all of their games from the Arcades and the Hoppy's Wieners, runners up, lose their majority. As the first step the Imperials grabbed but two titles and the Hoppy's won two from the Olympics, leaving the leaders only one game ahead and that being protested.

Secretary George Buboltz and Treasurer John Wissmann announced Wednesday morning that they would withhold dishing out the cash until the tie game is rolled off, which will be done probably the latter part of the week. Should the Elks lose the tie game it will tie them for first place with the Hoppy's who were in the lead most of the way but dropped one game in the rear at the close of the season. Should there be a tie for first place there probably will be another battle to decide the leadership.

machinery, finished lumber, all kinds of supplies were dumped alongside the trail, Indian guides deserted. Imported American cowboys got sick of it all and went home.

Finally Tex himself abandoned the enterprise as a bad job. Following his departure the Chaco Indians rounded up the lost mules and cattle, salvaged what they could from the wreckage and have lived in clover ever since.

Later the indomitable Rickard made a second Chaco attempt from the Paraguanay side. He didn't get very far. An American company took the venture off his hands.

Eighteen Green Bay Y. M. C. A. committee men including State Secretary Hathaway and Secretary Carland, who are working with them, met with the board of directors and employed staff of the local Y. M. C. A. at supper Tuesday evening.

Short talks were given by President F. J. Harwood, Vice President Judson G. Rosebush, Director G. E. Buchanan and General Secretary George F. Werner, who told of the distinctive features of the Y. M. C. A. building, the history of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. movement, and the Y. M. C. A. as a community center.

Responses were made by Chairman Brightman of the Green Bay committee and Judge Henry Grass. During the supper the Green Bay men asked a good many questions and quite a questionnaire was conducted later in the evening.

An inspection of the entire building and its various activities was made after which the Green Bay men returned home on the 9:15 interurban car. International Y. M. C. A. Secretary Schmidt stopped off in Appleton and returned with the delegation. He will direct the campaign for the new building.
